Dear Ms. Litty,

First and foremost we thank you for what you do for the American public and the world in general in promoting the principle that all citizens, including indigents, are entitled to basic human rights including that of the right to representation and a fair trial by one's peers.

We have been privileged to be participants in the latest class of the Stuart section of the Public Defender Intern Investigator Program. To be associated with this innovative world class program and the distinguished and superlative people who run it has been one of the most gratifying experiences of our lives.

We are sure you will agree that Brandon Perron is a national treasure. While we are aware of his distinguished career, we will never forget his dynamic, effective and humorous work in training us in the component method of investigation. No other in our experience could hold the rapt attention of a very demanding audience for hours on end, session after session. Four hour periods would vanish in no time during these fascinating classes, and we have been privy to a world we have never known.

We also were fortunate enough to have Amy Kreiling as our terrific course director and Sandy Warner as our mentor in the practical work of conducting investigations. One thing about this program is that all of these wonderful people taught us well and didn't hesitate to let us execute the theory.

The more we have learned in this program, the more we recognize how little we know and how much there is to learn and experience in this fascinating field. We hope to some day make you and your partners as proud of us as we are grateful to you in your truly unique and exceptional program.

Sincerely,

Terrance J. Tychan
